The International Health Partnership (IHP+)
Becoming a Partner: Developing Countries

Background:
The International Health Partnership (IHP+) was launched in London in September 2007 with four main objectives, consistent with the Paris Declaration on Aid Effectiveness:

1. Developing results-focused country-led compacts that rally all development partners around one national health plan; one M&E framework; and one review process, thus improving harmonization, alignment, focus on results and mutual accountability;
2. Generating and disseminating relevant knowledge, guidance and tools;
3. Enhancing coordination and efficiency at country, regional and global levels; and
4. Ensuring mutual accountability and monitoring of performance.

IHP+ seeks to achieve better health results by improving the way countries and development partners work together to develop and implement sound national health plans.

Becoming a Partner:
The IHP+ is open to all countries and partners willing to sign up to the commitments of the Global Compact (Annex 1). Developing countries who wish to engage in the IHP+ process should first discuss their intentions with partners in country, and then the Minister of Health should formally express this interest in writing to Dr Margaret Chan, Director General (WHO) and the Vice President for Human Development (World Bank).\(^1\)

The Vice President for Human Development

Once a letter of interest has been received, the IHP+ Core Team will engage with their regional and country partners. Briefing materials and background documents are available on the IHP+ web-site: www.internationalhealthpartnership.net. Additionally, further information can be provided upon request.

With a full understanding of the IHP+ process and implications made clear, such as harmonized partnership, behaviour change, more efficient use of domestic and external resources for health, and improved results against the health MDGs, new country partners will be welcome to sign up to the Global Compact.

\(^1\) A scanned copy of this signed letter should be sent by email to the IHP+ core team: Finn Schleimann, World Bank (fschleimann@worldbank.org) and Phyllida Travis, WHO (travisp@who.int).
As stated in the Global Compact, one specific goal of the IHP+ process is also to improve long-term, predictable financing for health. In this context, IHP+ partner countries are expected to develop specific agreements regarding domestic and global financing, in the form of negotiated, time-bound, results-oriented Country Compacts.\(^2\) By signing the Country Compact, partners agree that all existing and future support is based on one country health strategy. In many cases, this will necessitate behaviour change on behalf of both countries and partners.

Upon signing the IHP+ Global Compact, it is expected that partner countries will continue to:

- take the lead on health sector coordination (Ministry of Health), involving all relevant government agencies, international development partners and civil society (providers and client organizations);
- engage in regional and global consultations, and participate in/provide inputs to the IHP+ Country Health Teams Meetings, and IHP+ management bodies.

IHP+ Partners:

The IHP Global Compact has been signed by a growing list of partners, and the full list is available at: http://www.internationalhealthpartnership.net/en/ihp-partners/

Letters of support have been received from:

- United States (PEPFAR and USAID)
- OECD

In addition, Civil Society is fully engaged in the IHP+ process at both global and country level.

\(^2\) The Country Compact is a strong, measurable agreement with mutual commitments. It is not a legally binding document. The objectives of the Country Compact are to accelerate and scale-up the efforts to achieve the health MDGs; reduce fragmentation and volatility; reduce transaction costs; improve aid effectiveness and provide a framework for increasing total levels of aid; and revamp and energize the multisectoral approach with a global financing framework for results. Annex 1: The IHP+ Global Compact

WE COLLECTIVELY COMMIT:

- To work together in more efficient ways to improve health care and health outcomes in low and middle income countries. Led by country governments acting with their civil society we will tackle the challenges facing country health systems - particularly having enough trained health workers, in the right places and with the motivation, skills, equipment, commodities and medicines to do their work.
- To build on and use the existing systems at country level for planning, coordination, delivery and management of the health sector within the overall national development framework to achieve Millennium Development Goals (MDG) related outcomes.
- To be held to account in implementing this compact.

WE THE INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS AND BILATERAL DONORS WILL:

- Accept national health policies and plans as the basis for providing funding and avoid introducing new plans or projects that are inconsistent with national health plans and priorities.
- Agree and use shared processes to support national health plans at country level. This includes a) a shared approach to reviewing national health plans and sector management arrangements to minimise requirements for further assessments, b) agreement with governments on the sources and amounts of funding for the health plan c) increased use of shared mechanisms for managing and accounting for funds, reporting on progress and reviewing performance.
- Contribute to funding national health plans that address the whole health system - including public and non-state sectors. Funding can be for specific aspects of the plans but where possible, we will give flexible support to the plan, in accordance with our respective funding policies and guidelines. This includes funding for non-government services, either directly or via government and dealing with critical funding gaps.
- Review our policies and procedures at global level to enable better coordinated and longer term support at country level, including support to national plans, flexible use of funds and use of shared appraisal, funding and reporting mechanism.
- Work to ensure that disease and population specific approaches and those to achieve broad health system strengthening are mutually reinforcing. This may include revising existing health and disease specific programmes to make better use of the support.
- Test and evaluate ways to link our support to achieving results at country level, including success in strengthening health systems.
- Ensure our staff make this a priority, have incentives and are empowered to work in a coordinated way at country level.

• Be accountable for delivering the funding and technical support we commit for health. We will report annually on our performance at country and global levels.

WE THE GOVERNMENTS WILL:

• Use our national health plans, that are embedded in our overall development frameworks, to guide development of the health system and use of resources in the sector. Comprehensive health plans will incorporate priority programs such as immunisation, tuberculosis, malaria, reproductive health and the health components of multisectoral HIV/AIDS plans.

• When it is time to update our health plans, we will work with national stakeholders and international agencies to develop a common vision for the health sector, and identify targets and budgets that reflect this vision.

• Engage and involve our citizens and civil society so they know what to expect and can give feedback on performance.

• Implement our health plans as efficiently as we can, through stronger health and financial management systems, tackling misuse of resources, and working with non-government organizations.

• Work to ensure increased public funding for health care and develop improved health financing mechanism including risk pooling based on universal coverage in order to increase access for the poor and the most vulnerable and protect people from excessive health expenditure, within our national budget strategy and macroeconomic constraints.

• Be accountable to our citizens and report to our funders on progress in reaching the targets and disbursing the amounts budgeted in the plan.

WE THE OTHER FUNDERS WILL

• Use our support to further a coordination multilateral approach to strengthening health systems against national plans.

• Hold organizations receiving support - and ourselves - accountable for measuring impact and directing funding toward demonstrated successes.

• Continue to invest in learning and evaluation to ensure the best possible linkages between our support and achieving results at the country level.
