

PEOPLE WHO CARE:

TWO SHORT PLAYS CELEBRATING TODAY'S HEALTH CHALLENGES AND THE PEOPLE WHO ARE SOLVING THEM

DATE: Tuesday,
17 September 2019

VENUE: Schimmel Theatre,
Pace University (3 Spruce St)

DOORS OPEN: 7:00 PM
PLAY STARTS: 7:30 PM

RSVP HERE

Explore many of the themes of the upcoming UN High-level Meeting on Universal Health Coverage including: access, sustainable health financing, patient safety, health effects of climate change, epidemic response, health workers at risk, and the power of empathy in health.

BORN IN THE RUINS

Christopher Bailey and Susan Jacoby tell the story of a nurse and a midwife trying to save the life of a mother and her expectant child while caught in an urban conflict zone.

THE POT

Mac Rogers dramatizes what happens when a small town is hit by an epidemic and how the townspeople themselves have to band together to survive.

Admission is free.

After the performances, there will be a Q&A with an expert panel and the audience, followed by a networking event (cash bar only).

